

To whom it made concern:

I have known Michael Fitzgerald since the 1980s, when my wholesale distribution company, Dolphin Music, handled a couple of his recordings. I found him to be an effective and trustworthy businessperson, as well as an outstanding musical artist.

About me: In addition, I was the owner-operator of Attitude Records, an internationally distributed record label specializing in rap and hip-hop. Attitude launched the careers of Mamado (picked up by CBS), C.C. Lemonhead (a former member of the Chill Deal Boys and future member of hit acts 95 South and Quad City DJs), as well as the Lads and several other African American acts who helped put Jacksonville on the hip-hop map.

Dr. Fitzgerald has explained his current film project to me and how it connects to Jacksonville's black communities. I wholeheartedly support this effort.
